

CURWEN WEEKLY

Together Everyone Achieves More

Dear parents and carers

We are all wondering how 2024 is flying by so quickly that we are now in May! It is really amazing at this point in the year to consider the massive progress that the children have made since September. We hope that you have seen it too! We have lots more to look forward to in the summer term with lots of visits, our annual trips to the library to get involved in the Summer Reading Challenge, as well as our sports week, end of year performances and much more! As budgets get tighter and tighter, we increasingly rely on parents and carers to support us with educational visits. If you are able to volunteer your services for this then please speak to your child's class teacher or message us on Studybugs. We are also always looking out for volunteers to join our 'Friends Of Curwen' (our PTA) so do let us know if you are interested in this.

We would like to send another reminder about children NOT wearing jewellery to school. Lots of children have had to be reminded to remove bracelets, necklaces and earrings that are too large. They have all been spoken to about why this is not safe in school. Please support us by checking children are not wearing jewellery. We will ask children to remove jewellery to keep them safe and cannot be held responsible in the event of anything being lost.

We apologise for any inconvenience caused by the school closure for polling on Thursday. We hope that all the children enjoyed a chance to work at home for the day. We also hope that you all have a lovely day on Monday for the bank holiday. Fingers crossed we don't have the usual rain and traffic jams!

Have a lovely bank holiday weekend!

Over the last couple of weeks, the children have enjoyed having both chick and duckling eggs arrive in school. They have been able to observe them hatch then revive after their strenuous achievements, before rapidly developing into lively, fluffy creatures that were soon able to feed and drink for themselves. The process enriched and brought the children's science learning of animal topics to life where they learnt about the care of animals, growing, life cycles, diets and habitats.
