

Together Everyone Achieves More

Dear Parents and Carers

Wow how are we at the end of another half term! The time seems to be flying by. Despite being short, the year groups have all squeezed lots in! We hope that the children have enjoyed the varied opportunities on offer with lots of educational visits to enhance all their learning. Thank you once again to all of the parents and carers that kindly volunteer to assist us on visits, we really couldn't do it without you!

This week again we have had concerns around online content some children are accessing. We realise that technology is very much a part of our lives and does lots of good, but please remember it is vital that you closely monitor anything your child is accessing online. If they accidentally access inappropriate content then the algorithms online will provide them with more and more inappropriate content. Please see our website for more information <https://www.curwen.newham.sch.uk/page/?title=Online+Safety&pid=337>

We hope that you have an enjoyable half term holiday. There are lots of events going on in Newham, so do look out for things in the Leisure Centres, local parks and libraries. We will continue to share any leaflets and fliers that we receive. Don't forget that there are also lots of suggestions for free days out on our website - <https://www.curwen.newham.sch.uk/page/?title=Local+Holiday+Activities&pid=459>

As we mentioned last week, we are keen to know if anyone would be interested in purchasing a table at our Summer Fair on Friday 11th July. Please fill in the attached form if you are interested – thank you to all those that have completed it already.

We realise that it will be Eid just after the holidays. If this falls on a weekday, please make sure you report your child's absence on Studybugs by 9am as 'Eid' or 'Religious Observance' so that we can authorise the absence.

We wish you all a lovely half term,

Mr Harris and Mrs Mansfield

On 22nd May, Student Council and Pupil Parliament representatives from Curwen Primary School took part in The Really Big Art Project at Hilltop Junior School. This significant collaborative initiative provided an invaluable opportunity for our school council members to work as a team with ten other schools from the Heart Academy and Tapscott Trust. The day was dedicated to empowering crucial life skills, such as communication, teamwork, speaking and listening, as well as building confidence and resilience. The central theme of the art project was "Spread Your Wings." Children creatively painted butterflies, then used their communication skills to exchange these artworks with students from other schools, learning the powerful message that "the best way of getting is giving."

On Monday the TfL Explorer Ambassadors went with Ms Mahabeer to KIA Oval for the TfL Top Schools Awards. Curwen was nominated as the East finalist for the TfL Travel for Life Long Term Excellence for having a gold award for more than 10 years. Well done Curwen!
